Cool art pad

Fancy having an iPhone as your hotel key? That's what you get at the Blow Up Hall, an interactive art hotel loaded with modern luxury and high-tech facilities. When making reservations, guests are presented with three pictures, colours and numbers and are required to choose one of each, after which a room will be allocated. If you get lost and can't find your room, just point your 'key' down the hall way, and your iPhone beams a small screen outside the correct door. Enter and you'll find yourself in black and white toned rooms that are nothing short of futuristic, featuring touch-screen facilities and strategically-placed mirrors to create a sense of illusion.

Relax

Man's best friend

A simple activity such as walking the dog is not only beneficial for your pet, but also provides you with a health boost. Research has found that regular dog-walking owners suffer fewer minor and serious medical problems, and have lower blood pressure and cholesterol levels than owners of other pets.
